The Ontario & Western Railway Historical Society will sponsor its annual "Olde Timer's Day" for ex-employees of the now defunct railroad. The event is scheduled for Saturday, September 11, at the Fireman's Park in Hancock, New York.

Robert J. Tomaine and John N. Kiefer Jr., might be interested in attending the "Olde Timer's Day." Both men presented outstanding lectures on railroads during last week's Pioneer Days activities.

Speaking of seminars, the Third National Bank & Trust Company will be presenting a series of workshops entitled "Financial Management for the Small Business," beginning September 15 in Scranton. Local merchants and business owners can contact the Third National Bank for more information.

D&H Railroad history buffs may be interested in the exhibit at the Yager Museum at Hartwick College, Oneonta, New York. The exhibit is planned as a part of the three-day "Little Red Caboose Celebration" to be held from September 3-6, but the museum exhibit will remain open to the public through November 5th. Included in the exhibit will be photos, maps and artifacts going back to the earily history of the D&H Company when it opened a canal to bring coal from the Pennsylvania coal fields to the Hudson River.
